OUR QUARLES FAMILY TREE

(According to information researched by Palmer Quarles and me.)

In the booklet, Quarles in England and America, given me by Chester, the following information is supplied: The name Quarles is of ancient origin. So little is authoritatively known of its origin that several possible sources have been suggested. An old English authority gives Rumford in Essex as the original home of the family. Other authors say it came to England from Normandy at or just prior to the Conquest. The name is said to have been derived from the Norman-French word "quarl", a cross-bow bolt. Whether this symbolic word was given to our first ancestor of the name because of the speed with which he rushed into battle is not known. There is a small river in Scotland called the "Quarl" which may have had something to do with the origin of the name, and still other authors give it a Gaelic origin, deriving the name from an old Irish very meaning "to love".

While there is mention of the name in various parts of the Empire and in Holland, Ufford in County Suffolk seems to have been the place of residence of a very prominent branch of the family. George, who came from Norfolk, 1529, was father of George, auditor to King Henry VIII. The senior George also had a daughter, Margery, who married Sir Robert Wingfield of Alford and Upton, who was a direct descendant of William the Conqueror.

During the Tudor period in England there were several Quarleses who bore the title "Sir" and who were either baronets or knights. During the reign of Henry VIII an estate, "Stewarts" in Essex belonging to the crown was granted to George Quarles. This estate is probably incorporated now in the City of London. About 1592, Francis Quarles, the poet, was born at "Stewarts" which he inherited from his father. According to Palmer's research these "prominent" people were our forebears, and this is the way he has our family tree traced. He is presently at work documenting this material.

QUARLES-THOMPSON.

Friends here were surprised to learn of the marriage on last Friday, of Miss Alice Quarles to Mr. Leo Thompson; the wedding having taken place in Central America, where Miss Quarles had gone for a visit and where Mr. Thompson is in the service of the government. The announcement of the wedding came by radiogram to relatives of the bride.

For the past several years Mrs. Thompson has been director of music in the city schools and was re-elected for this term. Mrs. Thompson made many friends during her stay here, who regret her resignation.

The Advertiser joins friends in extending best wishes to this happy bride and congratulations to Mr. Thompson for having won for his life partner such an accomplished companion.

to my executrix £ 45. Whole estate to beloved wife to be equally divided among my children, she, Sarah Mallory to have same for life." (W. B. 1 - 290.)

- III. Thomas held 150 acres in King William in 1704. He was living in 1718.
- IV. Charles of K. G. is not shown in Quit Rents for 1704 and was probably deceased at that time. His children were given legacies in the will of their Uncle John Mallory in 1747. On November 19, 1699, Michael Bartlets of New Poquoson in York gave power of attorney to Charles Mallory of King and Queen to make sale of 506 acres of land in King and Queen lying on north side of Mattapony. (Elizabeth City Bk. 1684-99, p. 461).
- V. (Daughter), m. John Quarles who held 100 acres in King William in 1704. He was living in 1718.
- VI. Elizabeth, m. Martin Palmer (?), who held 1200 acres in King William in 1704.
- VII. John, merchant of London (said to be a son of John Mallory, druggist of London, 12 V. -402) was undoubtedly a son of the above Roger Mallory. The said John Mallory, citizen and leather seller of London, made his will in London as follows:

Abstract of the will of JOHN MALLORY, Citizen and Leather seller of LONDON.

Dated 23rd May, 1747

To my wife and her heirs my estate of STRATFORD LANGTHORN CO. ESSEX. Also I give to her lease of my house in the STRAND.

To Treasurer of Saint GEORGES Hospital £ 100 - for use of sick & lame there.

To Treasurer of the New Foundling Hospital for use of that charity, £ 100.

To Mr. GALFIDUS MANN and Mr. RICHARD COOKE, 20 guineas each for mourning.

I make my wife sole executrix and give her residue of my estate on condition that she pays to said Mr. MANN and Mr. COOKE £ 4000 within 3 years, to be held by them in trust as follows --

To pay interest to my wife for her life and after her death to pay to children of my brother WILLIAM near JAMESTOWN in VIRGINIA £ 400; in King Williams County, to the children of my sister ELIZABETH PALMER (Sic) £ 300 -- to children of my brother ROGER £ 1200 -- To children of my brother THOMAS £ 1200 -- To children of my sister QUARLES £ 300 -- To children of my brother CHARLES £ 400 --

To children of my cousin (nephew) FRANCIS MALLORY of 15. William Mallory (1660(?)-1720) was probably the eldest son of Roger Mallory, as he is mentioned first in the will of his brother John Mallory of London and also he seems to appear in the records earlier than his brothers. His wife was Anne, daughter of Thomas Wythe, Sr., Burgess of Elizabeth City, 1680. (B. J. 1659-93, p. 120).

On December 18, 1696, William Mallory made a deed of gift of one negro and a gray mare to his son Francis in lieu of £ 40 due from his grandmother, Ann Wythe (Elizabeth City, 1684-99, p. 119).

William Mallory bought land in Elizabeth City in 1680, for on November 27, 1690, Diana Moore, wife of John Moore of Gloucester, quit claimed a tract of land in that county which her husband and his former wife Susannah had sold to William Mallory August 16, 1680 (D. W. 1684-99, p. 115).

On May 2, 1693, Ann Mallory, daughter of Thomas Wythe, Sr., and wife of William Mallory, appointed her father-in-law, "Captain Roger Mallory of King and Queen", her attorney to relinquish her dower rights in certain lands in that county. (W. 1-197) (Elizabeth City 1684-99, p. 115). This was probably some of the "3740 acres in Pamunkey Neck formerly surveyed by Col. William Claiborne, decd., for Captain Roger Mallory", which had been patented by William Mallory November 21, 1687. (G. B. 7-572). Anne Mallory also relinquished her dower rights in a deed to John Ford of King and Queen (E. C. 1684-99-115). Was John Ford the husband of "Mary Ford", daughter of Thomas Mallory of London, mentioned in his will 1671 (ante)?

William Mallory was a lawyer. His name appeared on many pages of the early order books as a representative of litigants. He was probably the most active attorney in Elizabeth City in his time.

He also had personal controversies with several individuals. On January 18, 1697/98, he complained in the county court against Captain William Armistead, "that while sheriff 1695-96, he concealed 26 taxable persons from the tax lists and prays the benefit of the Act of October 1677 entitled, 'An Act imposing fines on

He married firstly Jane, who died February 12, 1638 (registers), and secondly, Mary. His son Francis was a legatee under the will of William Forster, Bishop of Sodor and Man. Dean Mallory died at Brindle, near Eccleston, in 1671.

He was the father of the emigrants to Virginia and mentioned them as being in Virginia in his will dated at Eccleston in Lancashire, July 10, 1671. He gave his wife, Frances, £ 400 for life, same to be divided among children alive at her death, except son Thomas, in Virginia, was to receive £ 100. Children, with their legacies, were as follows (12 V. 401):

13. I. Thomas, son in Virginia, 20 s. to buy him a ring (See later).
4. II. Roger, son in Virginia, 20 s. to buy him a ring (See later).
- III. John, son, druggist of London, 20 s. to buy him a ring.
- IV. Mary Forde, daughter, 20 s. to buy her a ring. She may have married John Ford of King and Queen.
- V. Jane Stamp, daughter, £ 100.
- VI. Susanna, daughter, £ 20.

13. Thomas Mallory, mentioned first in the will of his father, was in Virginia at the time of his father's death. In a deposition made in Charles City County in 1676, he gave his age as "about 40" (3 V. - 344).

He had previously deposed in 1665 that he was aged 30 years (13 Fleet 75). This would make his date of birth about 1635. In 1657, Thomas and Phillip Mallory witnessed a deed of Henry and William Batte in Charles City (10 Fleet 76). In 1656 he married Mary, the relict and administrator of Robert Longman (Do., 32, 36). In 1672-74 he was High Sheriff of Charles City County (13 Fleet 80-83).

Francis Mallory, his son, held 100 acres of land in Prince George 1704 and was Sheriff of that county in 1705. On August 17, 1713, he sold to John Williamson 240 acres in "Sussex" on S.S. of Nottoway River (D. B., 1709-15, p. 211). September 14, 1714 he gave a power of attorney to Edward Goodrich and John Hamlin. (B. 1713-28, p. 31). His will was dated last day of February 1718-19, pro. 1719, "very sick and weak," estate to be divided into two parts, child wife now goes with to have one part to remain together until all are 21. John Hamlin, John Woodleif and Edward Goodrich to be overseers. To wife Elizabeth, lands and plantations I now live on for life, then to son John. Rent of lands in Prince George and Surry to son Francis. Exrs: Wife, Edward Goodrich, John Hamlin. Teste: John Robertson, John Irby, John Denis.

He probably has many descendants. In the Brunswick Census of 1782 appears the names of Clement P., Francis, Roger and William Mallory.

14. Roger Mallory, mentioned second in the will of his father, Thomas Mallory (1605-1671), was living in Virginia at date of the will, July 10, 1671. Also Roger's uncle, Phillip Mallory, in his will dated 1661, gave "to my nephew Roger Mallory, all my plantations in Virginia" (ante).

Roger patented 2514 acres in New Kent in 1660, for a second patent was issued for this land in 1688 because the original record was lost. (G. B. 7, p. 660). This patent was issued to "Captain Roger Mallory", so he must have been a captain in the militia. The county records of New Kent have been lost. In 1693 Roger Mallory patented 300 acres of land escheated by George Nelson (G. B. 9-131). At that time he was living in King and Queen, which had been cut off from New Kent. He was a Justice in King and Queen 1693. (Fleet 5-102).

Also, in 1660 Roger Mallory patented 750 acres of land in York, "For the use of Phillip Mallory," for the transportation of 15 persons. (Yk. 1657-62, p. 244). In January 1679, Peter Perry, aged 28, in court at York County, testified about being in New Kent at the house of Captain Mallory where he was asked to accept a bill due from Captain Mallory to Mr. Robert Spring. (1675-84, Folio 214.)

Roger Mallory died shortly after December 22, 1695, for that was the date of deed made to him for 6160 acres of land by the Chickahomony Indians on Pamunkey Neck.

In 1697 John Buckner petitioned for a patent to this land, "he having purchased right from Roger, Charles and Thomas Mallory, sons of the decedent." Later, in 1699, "The General Assembly having taken into consideration settlement of land on Pamunkey Neck gave preference to the above three sons of Roger Mallory, bounded as by deed and computed at 2000 acres because the said Mallory had been given other lands in exchange." (H. B. 1695-1702, pp. 286-317). The maiden name of Roger Mallory's wife is unknown.

Children:

15. I. William, m. Anne Wythe (See later #15.)
- II. Roger held 100 acres in King William in 1704. (W. T. p. 224). He was a Justice in that county in 1702-1714. (1 V-368). In 1711 and 1718, the Chickahomony Indians made a complaint against Roger Mallory, Thomas Mallory and John Quarles of King William for occupying their land. (Ex. Jour Council III, pp. 272, 466, 487.) It is not known when Roger Mallory died or who were his children. A Roger Mallory made his will in Orange County, Parish of St. Thomas, September 6, 1743, as follows: "I give to Taverner Beale land bought of Nicholas Christopher he paying

Thomas Wayland, George Woods, Michael Clawse, John Clawse, Cyrus Fleshman, Peter Fleshman, Frederick Cobler, Robert Tanner, Michael Costler (Crisler) and Thomas Wright.^①

The following settlers patented land later; Jacob Holzolaw, Sept. 27, 1728; John Hoffman, Sept. 28, 1729; Edward Ballenger, (South side of Deep Run) 1733; George Long, Sept. 17, 1731. Pattas Blankenbeker, March 2, 1732; John Michael Stoltz, April 11, 1732; Conrad Amburger, John Carpenter and Joseph Bloodsworth, June 20, 1734; Jacob Manspoil and Andrew Garr, October 3, 1734. The deeds of these settlers show that four hundred acres was the customary size of a patent.^②

The first work of these settlers after arriving at their new home was to build a fort and stockade on the north side of the Robinson River, on what is now known as the Thornton Utz farm. This fort was used for protection against the Indians and also as a church. Although the forest was dense and the land hard to clear for cultivation, the colony grew and prospered and soon became a progressive community. It was in this community and by these people that a school was begun, for the teaching of religion, reading, writing and arithmetic. This achievement cannot be praised too highly for this school was the first authentic public school for white children in the Old Dominion.^③ This and many other things were performed by the early German settlers, for which their memory will be cherished by Madisonians.

Now let us turn to the English settlers. There has been a great deal of contention between Madisonians concerning who were the first to come into the county. Some claim that the Germans in the Hebron Church community were the first in what is now Madison county; while others contradict this and claim that the English settlers were already in the county when the German congregation came.

Although historical data on this is very meager, we are able to gather some information about the English settlers from the few records which have been preserved. Mr. Scott in his History of Orange county states that the colony settled by Governor Spotswood at Germanna in 1714 was the first settlement in Orange county.^④ Thus, it is certain that in 1714 there were no settlers in what is now Madison, as Orange was nearer the original settlement of Virginia and was thus settled before Madison. Then two years later, in 1716, Governor Spotswood made his memorial passage across the Blue Ridge. An account of this passage has been preserved, which shows that Germanna was the frontier settlement at that time, and that the lands beyond this were still in virgin forest. Thus, we are certain that no settlements were made in Madison prior to 1716; which brings us within nine years of the time when the German settlers settled on the Robinson River.

Before Spotsylvania was formed in 1721 several large grants were made beyond the frontier in the territory that later became known as Spotsylvania county; consequently, these grants could have been in what is now Spotsylvania, Orange, Culpeper, Greene or Madison counties. These grants, however, were not made to settlers because they were exceedingly large grants. They were speculative and in most cases the grantees never lived on the lands, but as the tide of settlers reached these grants they were divided into homesteads and sold. Thus the land dealers in the tidewater counties would speculate on the frontier lands. When Spotsylvania was formed these grants were recorded in the county records. The grants made before 1721 within the limits of what later became Spotsylvania were as follows: 1712, to Larkin Chew and Augustine Smith; 1717, to John Madison and John Rogers; 1718, to Francois Thornton, Anthony Thornton and William Strother; 1719, to Thomas Jones, Robert Beverley and James Bridgeforth; 1720, to William Skrine and Ruben Welch; 1722, Robert Coleman, William Hansford and John Quarles.^⑤

The largest of these grants were those of Robert Beverley and Thomas Jones who patented 15,000 acres; of James Taylor, who patented about 10,000 acres; and of Larkin Chew who patented over 20,000 acres. Chew's grant is very interesting because it shows how fast the settlers came after the frontier reached his grant; by 1740 his grant had been divided into thirty homes.^⑥

It is certain that the earliest settlements in Madison were made while Madison was a part of Spotsylvania, and that the first deeds made to land now in Madison were recorded in Spotsylvania. Although there have been many changes in the names of streams and other physical features of this territory, we are able to get some idea of the location of the land described in these old deeds made two hundred years ago.

One very common phrase in these deeds is that the land described lies "in the folks of the Rappahannock." This gives us a more definite idea as to its location for we know that it means this land was either in what is now Madison or Culpeper counties. It could however mean only Madison, for in that day the Rapidan River was often spoken of as the Rappahannock. This being true, it would mean that the land thus described would be "in the folks" of the Rapidan and Robinson Rivers. Patents thus described in the Spotsylvania records prior to 1734 when Orange was formed are as follows: Oct. 7, 1724, Joseph Waugh to Alexander Spotswood; Aug. 8, 1726, John

Shelton to Augustine Smith; Nov. 1, 1726, Augustine Smith to Mary Slaughter; Aug. 6, 1728, William Smith to Francis Thornton; Nov. 5, 1728, Augustine Smith to Robert Slaughter; Feb. 4, 1728, Augustine Smith to Thomas Slaughter; Jan. 18, 1728, Thomas Guy to Robert Eastham; Dec. 17, 1728, Alexander Spotswood to Thomas Burn; June 3, 1729, John Hadocks to Francis Thornton; Sept. 2, 1729, Henry Willis to Philemon Cavanaugh; Mar. 3, 1729, Thomas Guy to John Bond to George Wheatley; Dec. 4, 1733, William Carpenter to Michael Cook and Michael Smith, trustees of the German Church; May 17, 1734, Benjamin Rush to Anthony Strother; Aug. 6, 1734, John Mercer to Charles Carter.[ⓐ]

The deed of William Carpenter to Michael Cook and Michael Smith, trustees of the German Church, which was without a doubt in Madison proves that "In the folks of the Rappahannock" could certainly mean in what is now Madison county.

There are other instances where the deeds are described as being, "In the great folk of the Rappahannock" which like those "In the folks of the Rappahannock" could have been either in Madison or Culpeper. The deeds thus described are as follows: June 4, 1728, Samuel Wright to John Finalson; October 3, 1727, Joseph Copper to John Kirk; June 3, 1729, John Kilgore to Joseph Haddock; April 7, 1730, Isaac Norman to John Read; July 7, 1730, John Roberts to Roger Oxford; Oct. 6, 1730, John Ashley to William Smith; Nov. 30, 1730, James Pollard to Samuel Ball; Jan. 23, 1730, John Kilgore to John Haddox; Mar. 2, 1730, John Asher to Robert Boarman; July 6, 1730, John Duett to William Smith; Aug. 3, 1731, George Wood to John Hoffman; Aug. 3, 1731, Philemon Cavanaugh to Davis Yancey.

Likewise, there are two deeds for land described as being "In the little folks of the Rappahannock" which certainly meant in the forks of the Rapidan and Robinson Rivers. One of these deeds was made Dec. 2, 1729, when Isaac Bledsoe transferred one thousand acres of land to Robert Jones. The other was made April 2, 1733, when a deed was granted by Charles Morgan to William Smith. It will be noticed that both these deeds are later than those of which we have been speaking.

There is only one deed recorded in Spotsylvania which describes the land as being, "In the folks of the Robinson;" this was made by Theophilus Eddins to Alexander Waugh Nov. 8, 1733. The earliest patent that we are sure was made by an Englishman in Madison was in 1726, when Colonel Joshua Fry patented 1,000 acres of land in the forks of the Robinson River.[ⓑ] In 1724 Anthony Strother ⓐ Crozier, W. A., Deeds of Spotsylvania County.

ⓑ Slaughter, Philip, History of St. Mark's Parish, Page 134.

patented land, "under Double Top."[ⓐ] In 1736 Edmund Broadus patented land in Madison; he was an ancestor of John A. Broadus.[ⓑ]

The conclusion that we may draw from all these deeds is that, German and English settlers came about the same time. The Irish and Scotch-Irish came at a later period and will not be discussed here, but it may be said that they did not come in a group as did the Germans and the English.

The English settlers in contrast to the Germans sought the high lands. We may account for this in several ways. In the first place their mother country was not lowland like the German's; they sought land that resembled the mother country. Then again, the high lands were more easily cleared of the forest, and tobacco grew there better than on the low lands. As tobacco was used as currency at that time we would expect them to seek ground that was best adapted to its culture.

On most of the mountains of Madison may be seen today the remains of old colonial cabins, and signs of clearings that have now grown up into forests. The descendants of these early settlers have now forsaken their old homes and have moved into the more fertile valleys and among the smaller hills. These early forefathers of our have been forgotten; only a few piles of stone mark where their cabins once stood; even their graves are unmarked; yet, they performed their task in the great chain of events and made it possible that we may live a better life. Their achievements live on and their blood still flows in the veins of the Madisonians. We may say with one accord that their lives were not lived in vain.
